

clutch

> Skincare Cheat Sheet: The Latest and Greatest in Skincare

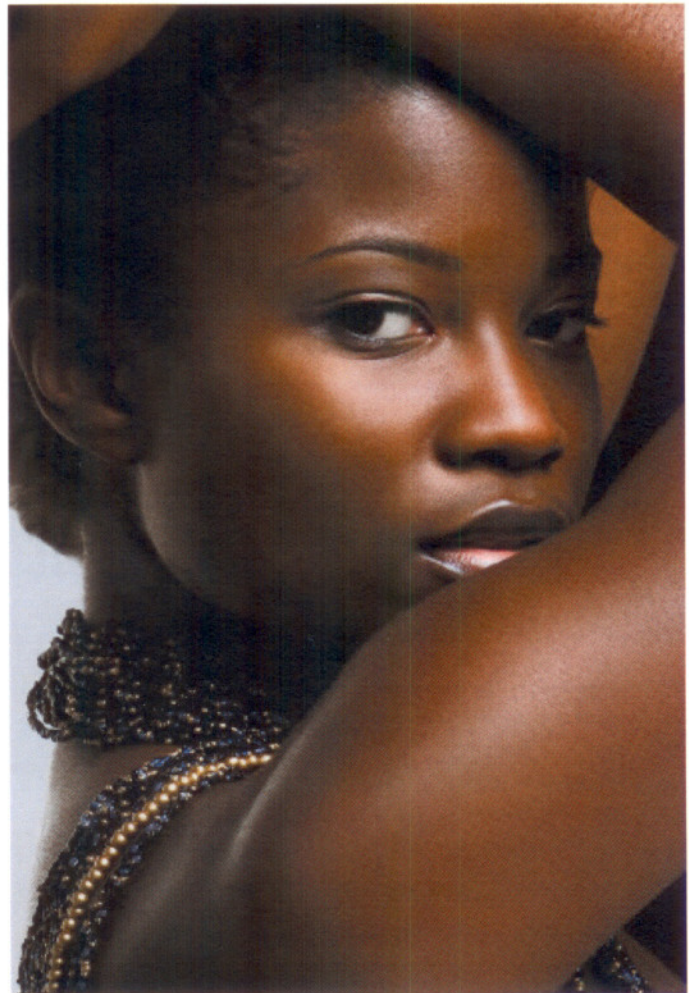

October 1, 2008 — By Nicole Mitsch

Kings & Queens The Royal Family of Showergels ($9, nordstrom.com) A royal new body care range developed around the herbs and spices favored by the aristocracy of a bygone age. The line reflects the true decadence of royals past with an imaginative, modern twist. If it was good enough for Kings & Queens, it is good enough for me.

AHAVA Dead Sea Mineral Mud ($25, ahavaus.com) A clay body mask loaded with minerals that provide moisture as it cleanses skin and removes impurities. This therapeutic mineral treatment relieves tension in muscles and joints, while softening skin to a radiant glow. Leaves your skin feeling amazing outside as it leaves you feeling more relaxed inside.

for dramatic results upon application. The intensive lifting action is immediate and your skin will look and feel firmer automatically.

Amore Pacific MOISTURE BOUND Refreshing Hydra-Gel ($100, neimanmarcus.com) A mineral-rich, oil-free hydrating gel that promotes cellular energy and prevents aging. The gel provides immediate hydration to tired dry skin while energizing skin cells. Moisture Bound is enriched with minerals to encourage skin's own hydration response. It also provides antioxidant protection against free radicals and anti-aging benefits.

Karin Herzog Vita-A-Apricot ($66, karinherzogus.com) This luxurious anti-aging face cream is formulated with 2% oxygen, vitamin A & E and Apricot oil.

This anti-aging cream smoothes and tones the skin. Vita-A-Apricot gives a boost of radiance and energy to skin to tone the complexion and reduce the appearance of pores. Great nourishment for all skin types.

My Blend Anti-Jet Lag Relief Emergency Booster ($45, saksfifthavenue.com) As the holiday season nears travelers are going to take to the friendly skies. And most of them will experience the not so friendly effects of travel on their skin. The dry air on the planes and stress of air travel can leave skin dehydrated. That's where Anti-Jet Lag Relief Emergency Booster comes in. It rids the skin of toxins, restores moisture balance, and returns skin to its natural radiance. Just add the booster to any of the five mega-concentration of pure actives from the line. After using the booster, my skin immediately felt and looked more refreshed.

Solavie Eco-Global Skin and Hair Care ($10-38, solavie.com) A system of unisex body products that includes face washes, moisturizers, shower gels, hair shampoos and conditioners that is geared toward the climate you are in instead of your skin type. You can choose between Mountains, Urban, Tropics, Shore Plains or Desert. Each type contains specific nutrients and healing proprieties that someone in that environment might need. The packaging is super simple and useful you can snap two different products together depending on what you need. Maybe you want your conditioner and lotion for a trip. The Plains Calming Face Wash packed with native botanicals is my favorite. It is soothing and leaves my face refreshed without being dry. Plus, it's 100%

